

The Center for Advanced Intermodal Technologies (CAIT)

The Center for Advanced Intermodal Technologies (CAIT) focused its efforts on issues of significance to the private sector as well as on issues where public and private sector needs intersect. Supported with private funds and a Congressional earmark, CAIT worked to develop data sets, models, and case studies that were used to inform both business practice and public policy. CAIT supported research studies, conducted industry and public policy round table discussions, and developed education programs relevant to industry professionals.