Since becoming the Ph.D. (Economics) Coordinator in 2008, I have regularly been advising from 13 to 15 Ph.D. students annually (98 Doctoral student years) until they reach ABD status. Since 2010, I have Chaired 6 Dissertations and served on the Committees of 4 others in Economics, and from 2013 to 2016 was invited to serve on 5 additional Dissertations in The School of Accountancy (FCBE), 1 in Finance (FCBE), and 1 in Department of Mathematics & Statistics (College of Arts & Sciences). Currently, I plan to chair 3 additional Ph.D. Economics Dissertations during 2018.

The Ph.D. students whose Dissertations I chaired are currently employed as tenure track faculty members at The University of North Carolina system, Texas A&M University (Commerce, TX), Florida International University (Miami, FL), James Madison University (Harrisonburg, VA), and ALSAC/St. Jude Children Research Hospital (Memphis, TN). These newly minted Ph.D.s under my supervision are actively engaged in innovative academic research leading to high quality peer refereed publications in top Economics journals.
