ENGL 4/6619: Web Design/Online Writing

Dr. Chloe Robertson

This course is intended to review specific ethics, writing practices, design modalities, and information management norms online. Students will be introduced to best practices in the field and will have the opportunity to create social media campaigns, engage in collaborative online writing, and gain skills with web editing software.