

ENGL-7603: Graduate Poetry Workshop, Thursdays, 5:30-8:30, Patterson 321

ENGL-7603 is a graduate-level workshop devoted to the creation, revision, and critical analysis of poetry. Students will submit original work and improve their craft through dedicated practice and intensive study. Analyzing contemporary collections of poetry, the students will work to understand how the poet is using figurative language, form, music, and arrangement to create intricate layers of meaning. The workshop is a constructive community environment where students are invited to encourage and challenge one another as they refine their work.
