“Frère, voyez...Du gai soleil!” from Werther ... Jules Massenet
(1842-1912)

Text (original French by Édouard Blau, Paul Milliet and Georges Hartmann; English by Stephen Karr)

Frère! Voyez!.. Voyez le beau bouquet!
J’ai mis, pour le Pasteur, le jardin au pillage!..
Et puis l’on va danser!
Pour le premier menuet
c’est sur vous que je compte

Ah! le sombre visage!..
Mais aujourd’hui, Monsieur
Werther, tout le monde est joyeux! le bonheur est dans l’air!

Brother! Look! Look at this beautiful bouquet!
To make it for the Pastor, I’ve raided the entire garden!
And then, it will be time to dance!

I’m counting on you for the first minuet...
Ah! You look so sad!..
But today, Mr. Werther, everyone is happy! Delight is in the air!

Du gai soleil plein de flamme dans l’azur resplendissant
La pure clarté descend de nos fronts jusqu’à notre âme!
Tout le monde est joyeux! le
bonheur est dans l’air!
Et l’oiseau qui monte aux
cieux dans la brise qui souple...
est revenu pour nous dire
que Dieu permet d’être
heureux!
Tout le monde est joyeux!
Le bonheur est dans l’air!
Tout le monde est joyeux!

From the cheerful, flaming
sun shining in the azure sky,
pure, bright light descends
on our faces, and even to our souls!
Everyone is happy! Delight
is in the air!
And the bird who climbs toward the heavens in the sighing breeze...
has returned to tell us that God allows us to be glad!
Everyone is happy!
Delight is in the air!
Everyone is happy!
